Invest in yourself

Investing in your workplace pension is important. But it's more than simply saving for retirement – it's also about great habits you can get into early, and investing in yourself too. So we asked real people for their thoughts on life, work and saving for retirement. Here's what Jenny Howgate, Marketing Manager, had to say.

Top tip

The smartest way to invest in yourself, is to start today. The earlier you put money away for your retirement, the longer it will have to grow, thanks to the power of time and compounding. See how a small change can make a big difference. Discover the Power of Small Amounts

Important Information – The value of your pension investments may fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount contributed. This is not a personal recommendation for any investment or course of action. If you are unsure which investment approach is right for you personally, you should speak to an authorised financial adviser. Withdrawals from a pension product will not normally be possible before age 55.
